COLORADO PSYCHOTHERAPY DISCLOSURE STATEMENT AND PSYCHOLOGICAL SERVICES AGREEMENT

This services agreement contains important information about my professional services and business policies. It also contains summary information about the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA), a federal law that provides privacy protections and patient rights with regard to the use and disclosure of your Protected Health Information (PHI) used for the purpose of treatment, payment, and health care operations. HIPAA requires that I provide you with a Notice of Privacy Practices for use and disclosure of PHI for treatment, payment and health care operations. The law requires that I obtain your signature acknowledging that I have provided you with this information. Although these documents are long and sometimes complex, it is important that you read them carefully before our next session. We can discuss any questions you have about the procedures at that time. When you sign this document, it will also represent an agreement between us. You may revoke this agreement in writing at any time.

PSYCHOLOGICAL SERVICES

Psychotherapy is not easily described in general statements. Your experience will depend upon many different factors including the personalities of the psychologist and client and the particular issues you are seeking help for. Psychotherapy is different from traditional medical doctor visits in that it calls for a very active effort on your part. In order for the therapy to be most successful, you will have to work on the things we talk about both during our sessions and at home. Psychotherapy can have benefits and risks. Since therapy often involves discussing unpleasant aspects of your life, you may experience uncomfortable feelings like sadness, guilt, anger, frustration, loneliness, and helplessness. On the other hand, psychotherapy has also been shown to have many benefits. It often leads to better relationships, solutions to specific problems, and significant reductions in feelings of distress. But there are no guarantees of what you will experience.

MEETINGS

Our sessions will be 55 minutes in length. Longer sessions can be arranged with advanced notice. Once an appointment hour is scheduled, you will be expected to pay for it unless you provide 48 hours advance notice of cancellation, unless we agree the circumstances were beyond your control. If it is possible, I will try to find another time to reschedule the appointment.

PROFESSIONAL FEES

My fee for a 55-minute session is $125. In addition to weekly appointments, I charge $125 per hour for any other professional services you may need, though I will break down the hourly cost if I work for periods of less than one hour. Other services include report writing, telephone conversations lasting longer than 10 minutes, consulting with other professionals with your permission, preparation of records or treatment summaries, and the time spent performing any other professional service you may request of me. If you become involved in legal proceedings that require my participation, you will be expected to pay for all of my professional time, including preparation and transportation costs, even if I am called to testify by another party. Because of the difficulty of legal involvement, my professional fees for participation in legal proceedings are different and can be discussed if the need arises.

CONTACTING ME

Due to the nature of my work, I am often not immediately available by telephone. While I am usually in my office between 10 AM and 6 PM Monday through Friday, I will not answer the phone when I am with a client. If you need to reach me for non-emergent reasons outside of our scheduled sessions, please call my office phone number at 970-306-6986 and leave a voice mail. I regularly monitor my voice mail between sessions and I will return your call as soon as I can, generally within 24 hours. Phone calls will usually be returned during regular business hours. I do not generally return phone calls evenings, nights or weekends or when I am on vacation. If I will be unavailable for an extended time, I will provide you with the name of a colleague to contact, if necessary.

You can also contact me by email at drjsquyres@mac.com. Please understand that email is not consistently timely and reliable and confidentiality cannot be assured when you communicate through electronic means. I strive to return all emails but if I haven't replied, please resend the original message because I might not have received it or my spam filter may have inadvertently sent it to my junk mail box. I do not regularly monitor my messages on Facebook or other social media sites I may have an account with, so please do not use social media messaging to contact me.

You can send a text to 970-306-6986 regarding simple scheduling or billing issues only. Do not use text messages for urgent messages or clinical issues.

EMERGENCIES

Please be aware that I provide non-emergency face-to-face and online psychotherapy services by scheduled appointment. As a solo practitioner in independent practice, I am unable to provide extensive or ongoing emergency care. If you believe that you will need frequent emergency attention between scheduled sessions, please discuss this with me immediately so that I can refer you to a provider who can better serve your needs. If I believe your psychotherapeutic issues are outside of my scope of practice, I am legally required to consult, refer, or terminate treatment.

If you are unable to contact me by telephone and you are experiencing an emergency situation, please call 911, or proceed to the nearest hospital emergency room. I do not have admitting privileges at any local hospitals so I can not provide treatment if you are in the emergency room or are admitted to the hospital. Emergency room and hospital treatment may be covered through your insurance or out of pocket and is not connected to my services in any way.

In the event of a life-threatening emergency, do not attempt to reach me before contacting emergency services for help. Please call 911 or go to the nearest emergency room for immediate assistance

If you are having suicidal thoughts or making plans to harm yourself, please call the National Suicide Prevention Lifeline at 1.800.273.TALK (8255) for free 24 hour hotline support.

Email is never an appropriate way to contact me in the event of an emergency as I can not control when I will receive your email.

LIMITS ON CONFIDENTIALITY

The law protects the privacy of all communications between a client and a psychologist. In most situations, I can only release information about your treatment to others if you sign a written Authorization form that meets certain legal requirements imposed by HIPAA. There are other situations that require only that you provide written, advance consent. Your signature on this Agreement provides consent for those activities, as follows:

- I may occasionally find it helpful to consult other health and mental health professionals about a case. During a consultation, I make every effort to avoid revealing the identity of my patient. The other professionals are also legally bound to keep the information confidential. If you don't object, I will not tell you about these consultations unless I feel that it is important to our work together. I will note all consultations in your Clinical Record (which is called "PHI" in my Notice of Psychologist's Policies and Practices to Protect the Privacy of Your Health Information).

- I also have contracts with Therasoft and Counsol.com which are both online practice management systems. As required by HIPAA, I have a formal business associate contract with these businesses in which they promise to maintain the confidentiality of client data except as specifically allowed in the contract or otherwise required by law. If you wish, I can provide you with a blank copy of this contract.
- If a client seriously threatens to harm himself/herself, I may be obligated to seek hospitalization for him/her, or to contact family members or others who can help provide protection. Texas law provides that a professional may disclose confidential information only to medical or law enforcement personnel if the professional determines that there is a probability of imminent physical injury by the client to the patient or others, or there is a probability of immediate mental or emotional injury to the client.

There are some situations where I am permitted or required to disclose information without either your consent or Authorization:

- If I am directed by a judge in a court of law to reveal information, then I must do so. However, if you are involved in a court proceeding and a request is made for information concerning your diagnosis and treatment, such information is protected by the psychologist-patient privilege law. I cannot provide any information without your (or your legal representative's) written authorization, or a court order. If you are involved in or contemplating litigation, you should consult with your attorney to determine whether a court would be likely to order me to disclose information. Legal confidentiality does not apply in criminal or juvenile delinquency proceedings.
- If a government agency is requesting the information for health oversight activities, I may be required to provide it for them. If a client files a complaint or lawsuit against me, I may disclose relevant information regarding that patient in order to defend myself.

There are some situations in which I am legally obligated to take actions, which I believe are necessary to attempt to protect others from harm and I may have to reveal some information about a client's treatment. These situations are unusual in my practice.

- If I determine that there is a probability that a client will inflict imminent harm on him/herself or another, I am required to take protective action which may involve disclosing information to medical or law enforcement personnel or by securing hospitalization of the client.
- If I have cause to believe that a child under 18 has been or may be abused or neglected (including physical injury, substantial threat of harm, mental or emotional injury, or any kind of sexual contact or conduct), or that a child is a victim of a sexual offense, or that an elderly or disabled person is in a state of abuse, neglect or exploitation, the law requires that I make a report to the appropriate governmental agency. Once such report is filed, I may be required to provide additional information.
- If such a situation arises, I will make every effort to fully discuss it with you before taking any action and I will limit my disclosure to what is necessary.

While this written summary of exceptions to confidentiality should prove helpful in informing you about potential problems, it is important that we discuss any questions or concerns that you may have now or in the future. The laws governing confidentiality can be quite complex, and I am not an attorney. In situations where specific advice is required, formal legal advice may be needed.

PROFESSIONAL RECORDS

The laws and standards of my profession require that I keep Protected Health Information about you in your Clinical Record. Except in unusual circumstances that involve danger to yourself and/or others, you may examine and/or receive a copy of your Clinical Record if you request it in writing. Because these are professional records, they can be misinterpreted and/or upsetting to untrained readers. For this reason, I recommend that you initially review them in my presence, or have them forwarded to another mental health professional so you can discuss the contents. In most circumstances, I am allowed to charge a copying fee. If I refuse your request for access to your records, you have a right of review, which I will discuss with you upon your request.

CLIENT RIGHTS

HIPAA provides you with rights with regard to your Clinical Record and disclosures of protected health information. These rights include requesting that I amend your record; requesting restrictions on what information from your Clinical Record is disclosed to others; requesting an accounting of most disclosures of protected health information that you have neither consented to nor authorized; determining the location to which protected information disclosures are sent; having any complaints you make about my policies and procedures recorded in your records; and the right to a paper copy of this agreement and my privacy policies and procedures.

MINORS & PARENTS

Clients under 18 years of age who are not emancipated and their parents should be aware that the law allows parents to examine their child's treatment records. However, if the treatment is for suicide prevention, chemical addiction or dependency, or sexual, physical or emotional abuse, the law provides that parents may not access their child's records. For children between 15 and 18, because privacy in psychotherapy is often crucial to successful progress, particularly with teenagers, it is my policy to request an agreement from the patient and his/her parents that the parents consent to give up their access to their child's records. If they agree, during treatment, I will provide them only with general information about the progress of the child's treatment, and his/her attendance at scheduled sessions. I will also provide parents with a summary of their child's treatment when it is complete. Any other communication will require the child's authorization, unless I feel that the child is in danger or is a danger to someone else, in which case, I will notify the parents of my concern. Before giving parents any information, I will discuss the matter with the child, if possible, and do my best to handle any objections he/she may have.

BILLING AND PAYMENTS

You will be expected to pay for each session at the time it is held, unless we agree otherwise. Payment schedules for other professional services will be agreed to when they are requested. If your account has not been paid for more than 60 days and arrangements for payment have not been agreed upon, I have the option of using legal means to secure the payment. This may involve hiring a collection agency or going through small claims court which will require me to disclose otherwise confidential information. In most collection situations, the only information I release regarding a patient's treatment is his/her name, the nature of services provided, and the amount due. If such legal action is necessary, its costs will be included in the claim.

COLORADO MANDATORY DISCLOSURE STATEMENT

In seeking the services of a mental health professional, you have certain legal rights. This document provides information that I am required to share with all clients before beginning treatment. Please read this document carefully. This information will also be reviewed during our first meeting.
